21st Session of UN Finds Ghost of Viet Nam War Plaguing It

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly opens its 21st session today in an atmosphere of gloom, with East-West relations seriously impaired by the Viet Nam war and with little prospect of progress on major issues.

The only bright spots were the decision of Indonesia to resume its U.N. membership after an absence of 18 months and an indication from U Thant that he might continue as secretary-general until the end of the year if no successor is found in the next few weeks.

Advance agreement assured the election without a floor fight of Afghanistan's veteran Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak as assembly president for the 13-week session. This will clear the way for quick organization of the 117-nation body.

Although the Viet Nam war is not formally on the assembly's agenda, it is expected to play a major role both in the general debate which begins later this week and in the discussions of disarmament, outer space law and other issues coming up later in the session.

In what could be a move to put the war before the assembly, Czechoslovakia proposed Monday that the assembly debate "the prohibition of the threat or use of force in international relations."

U.N. officials estimated that more than 80 heads of government, foreign ministers and other cabinet members would be present for at least part of the session. They will not only take part in the debates but will engage in behind-the-scenes talks.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was among those expected at the opening session.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk already has arranged to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on Thursday in an effort to improve U.S.-Soviet relations. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said Viet Nam would be a subject for discussion, but in the past the Soviet Union has refused to talk about peace moves.

Thant told a news conference Monday that East-West relations had dropped to a new low, mainly because of the Viet Nam war, and that there had been a stiffening of the attitudes by all sides.

By LEWIS GULICK
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — American diplomats braced today for some rough sailing over Viet Nam in the 21st U.N. General Assembly session.

After a swearing-in ceremony for the U.S. delegation, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was to head the American group at the ceremonial launching of the assembly's fall session this afternoon.

A potential storm signal for the debate beginning later in the week was raised by Czechoslovakia's call for urgent consideration of "the prohibition of the threat or use of force in international relations."

The Czech proposal did not specify Viet Nam, which is not formally on the assembly's agenda. But it could serve as a Communist move to get what Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has termed U.N. "decisions which would erect a reliable barrier against the forces of aggression."

Gromyko failed to appear at a reception given Monday night by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg for foreign leaders attending the U.N. session. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is due for a private meeting with Gromyko Thursday night.

The Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, came to the U.S. reception and said no political significance should be drawn from his chief's absence. He said Gromyko had a slight head cold.

U.S. diplomats hoped this was the case. But unofficially some were concerned over a tough line shown by the Reds on Viet Nam.

Among other things, the Communists were said to be spreading the word in U.N. corridors that U Thant decided to quit as secretary-general because of American intervention in Viet Nam.

Viet Nam figured in virtually every Rusk appointment as the secretary of state began a week of base-touching with his opposite numbers here.

Rusk told Thant again of U.S. willingness for peace talks on Viet Nam. The Reds, however, have resisted past U.S. efforts to get the U.N. into a peace-making role.

Rusk and Australian Foreign Minister Paul Hasluck, who see alike on Viet Nam, were reported to have discussed the war in the broader context of security in Asia. Rusk invited Hasluck to Washington for another talk expected next month.

"The only point at issue is did the trial court have jurisdiction, after expiration of the court term, to give Gerald legal custody of Sharon."

Ward said in his opinion the Aug. 9 chancery court order giving Swindle custody of the child was void.

He also said that Sharon was taken from her mother "illegally and by force."

War Critics Fail to Give Helpful Hints

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans criticize Johnson administration Viet Nam policies but say they don't plan to tell the President how to run the war.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York made this clear today in discussing a white paper issued Monday night by the House

Republican Conference. It said administration policy in Viet Nam "has been uncertain and subject to abrupt change."

"The urgent immediate question is how to end this war more speedily and at smaller cost while safeguarding the independence and freedom of South Viet Nam," the white paper said.

But the 32-page report offered no specific proposals, and Goodell, chairman of the GOP's Committee on Planning and Research, emphasized "that is not the purpose of the paper."

"Our purpose was to put the whole situation into perspective by means of a scholarly study explaining how we got to where we are now," the New York Republican said.

"We're not planning to look over the President's shoulder each time he gets ready to make a decision."

Goodell, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, the GOP conference chairman; and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the House Republican leader, whose signatures appeared on the report, planned to discuss it at a news conference today.

But Goodell said any specific GOP proposals would be confined to ideas previously supported by party groups, such as an all-Asia peace conference, quarantine of the port of Haiphong and increased bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam.

The House GOP report, an updated version of a study made last year, traced U.S. involvement in Viet Nam from 1950, when it said the Truman administration agreed to send economic and military equipment to what was then French Indochina.

"When President Eisenhower left office," it said, "there was no crisis in Viet Nam."

During the Johnson administration, it went on, "the United States has become a full-fledged combatant in a conflict that is becoming bigger than the Korean War."

The report said "the objective of the United States in Viet Nam has become clouded" and made these criticisms of administration policy:

"The administration has consistently held off needed military action until the situation in South Viet Nam reached a state of acute deterioration failed to use the economic power of the nation in the conflict."

"The administration has not told the American people the truth about the military situation in Viet Nam, about the mission of American troops, about war costs, about casualties, about peace feelers. This studied deception strikes at the vitals of the system of popular government."

"The result of President Johnson's policies, according to leading administration spokesmen, has been a stalemate with neither victory nor satisfactory peace in prospect."

Toothbrush Tips

Have you gone shopping for a toothbrush lately? Since your teeth are a very important part of the over-all cosmetic picture, a toothbrush should be as important a purchase as your lipstick. Don't forget, those pearls must be attended to three times a day. The bristles must be tough enough to clean thoroughly and stimulate healthy gums.

REP. THOMAS B. CURTIS, R-Mo., has accused administration officials of leading the country into a "serious" war in Viet Nam through secret decisions. "I think it's about time the American people were brought in on these decisions," Curtis stated.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Passenger In Distress

While seated in a cross-country bus, a woman accidentally twisted her knee, throwing it badly out of joint. Although she asked for a doctor, the driver said he had no time to arrange for that. He finally deposited her at her destination, 12 hours later.

In due course the woman sued the bus company, not only for causing her needless pain but also for making her condition worse. And the court upheld her claim.

True, the bus company was not even remotely to blame for the woman's original injury. And, as a rule, the law does not require Good Samaritanism—that is, it does not require one person to go to the aid of another in distress.

However, the court's ruling was based not on Good Samaritanism but on the special relationship between the two parties. They were not merely two strangers. They were carrier-and-passenger. When there is such a relationship, and an emergency arises en route, the law generally does impose an affirmative duty to give aid.

That doesn't mean the passenger can hold the carrier liable under all circumstances. For one thing, before there is any duty to help, there must be some clear sign that help is needed.

Thus, a railroad was excused for not aiding a seriously ill woman, when the only sign of her affliction was that she had rested her head on her hand.

But once the peril is apparent, then the carrier's duty begins.

How speedily must help be given? That depends on the particular situation. For example:

In a medical emergency involving an expectant mother on a train, a court held that the train should have been halted at the next town, rather than at the next regular stop.

And how long does the carrier's duty last? Possibly even beyond arrival at the passenger's destination.

In one case, a bus rider who had suffered a severe eye injury was left in the station, alone and helpless. The bus company was later held liable for not making sure the victim was placed in responsible hands.

Summarizing the law, the court said: "The carrier owes to the passenger the consideration and care of common humanity."

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

DON'T DO ANYTHING YOU CAN'T SPELL

Dear Helen: I am 15 and so is the boy I am going with for two years. Just about 16.

We love each other much and plan to get married, but here is my question. What state will marry 15-year-olds? Without parents' permission? — Wants To Get Married

Dear WTGM: No state in the union allows 15-year-old males to be married without parental consent, and only one state sets its legal marriage age at 16 for boys, 14 for girls.

I won't tell you which one because you aren't ready! Among other things learn to SPELL — "married" before you become it! — H.

Dear Helen: If anyone has an answer, please give!

Our chlorinated swimming pool turned my blonde hair green and it wouldn't come out, so I had to bleach it. I have been bleaching my hair at home for two years with the best stuff on the market, supposedly.

Now I am trying to let it grow, and the ends won't take color. They are dry and white looking. I try just doing the roots, but then I have two colors. Help!! — Overbleached

Dear Over: Your best bet is to visit a beauty parlor, or a beauty college, and find out the extent of damage. But if you're somewhat broke, then send a strand of your hair to the cosmetic company people whose bleach you have used, tell them your problem, and they'll recommend the proper oil conditioner and additional treatment.

Your hair has probably become spongy and porous and needs a "filler" (conditioner) to help bring it back to life. — H.

CONVENIENT BABY SITTER

Dear Helen: I keep my sister's and brother's kids so much they call me Mamma. Which is all right. But my sisters and brothers take me for granted. The figure I can babysit any time, for free.

How do I tell them I don't want to? — Sis

Dear Sis: Take a deep breath and say, "My babysitting rates are 50 cents an hour," (or whatever the rates are in your town). If your mother doesn't back you up, then perhaps she should spell you with the kids. — H.

Dear Helen: I was at a party at a friend's house not long ago. A sign right up on the wall in every room said, "No smoking please." Now really, isn't this kind of crusading a little far out? — Put Out

Dear P.O.: ... Not if someone in the house has an allergy to tobacco smoke. Consider before you condemn, eh,um. — H.

Dear Helen: I am 18. About six months ago I met a 14 year-old-boy. I look about 14 and he looks about 18. He is wonderful and I love him, but I don't think he loves me.

I am afraid my older friends might find out about him and me, but my biggest problems are, how do I tell a 14 year-old boy

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "Mission Impossible" had for its mission the job of spiriting some nuclear warheads out of a dictatorship in South America. And it took the job of spiriting some nuclear warheads out of a dictatorship in South America. And it took an extremely long Saturday evening hour to accomplish the assignment.

The CBS program was one of three new shows bowing in over the weekend. The others were NBC's "T. H. E. Cat," on Friday and CBS' Western comedy, "Pistols 'n' Petticoats" the following evening. None of them proved to be anything more than stock treatments of familiar themes.

The sole hour show was "Mission Impossible." It had the least amount of plot. And it resolved that problem by filling the extra time with a lesson on applying stage makeup and with a demonstration of electronic methods of breaking down the door of a bank vault.

"Mission Impossible" is an organization of secret agents for hire — but only for the good side, of course. The head man, played by Steven Hill, didn't have much to do, but he had on hand guest star Wally Cox playing a master safe cracker, Martin Landau, playing a master of disguises, and Barbara Bain as a mistress diverting masculine attention at the right time.

It was also pretty confusing, not to mention boring.

Also on the busy side was "T. H. E. Cat," whose title is supposed to be the name of the hero, Thomas Hewitt Edward Cat, who by a curious writer's coincidence is a retired cat burglar. He is very adept at scurrying over rooftops, climbing walls and dropping lightly from considerable heights to save the client's bacon. He is a professional bodyguard. The first show was full of demonstrations of his skills and when they add some plot to the action, it could turn into a diverting show.

"Pistols 'n' Petticoats" chose to make its first appearance with a not very funny story

Pirates in Crucial Win Over Giants

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Green Weenie has the Herman Frank in hot water.
However, Hot Don could prove meatier than both.
The Weenie skinned the Frank for the second straight game Monday and combined with Hot Don to leave the San Francisco Giants dangerously charred.
The Pittsburgh Pirates, possessor of the rubber Weenie, whipped San Francisco, owner of the synthetic Frank, 6-1 in 11 innings and dropped the third-place Giants four games behind National League-leading Los Angeles.
The Pirates, in second place, remained 1½ games back when the Dodgers crushed Philadelphia 6-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Don Drysdale, who could turn out to be the most potent weapon in the last two weeks of the pennant race.
The Green Weenie is a green-painted rubber replica of a hot dog which Pirate fans have been using jokingly to hex the opposition this season. The Herman Frank, named for the Giant manager, was unveiled last week.
Manager Franks was seated in his office before a game when one of his coaches, Charley Fox, dropped an orange-colored, synthetic hot dog on his desk.
"What's this?" Herman asked.
"Read what's on it," Fox replied.
Herman read. The object said, "A Herman Frank."
Explained Fox as he handed them to the Giant players: "That's our secret weapon to counteract the Green Weenie."
The Frank, though, hasn't done much countering. Monday's defeat left the Giants in such a position that if the Dodgers win just seven of their remaining 13 games, San Francisco, who would have to win 10 of its last 11 to gain a first-place tie.
The Pirates are a lot better off than that, but it may not do them any good now that Drysdale apparently has regained the technique that shot him into the $100,000 salary class.
The Dodger right-hander, a 23-game winner last season, hadn't done much for the Dodgers this year until recently. Now in his last three starts he's allowed just four runs and 14 hits in 26 innings.
In the only other NL game New York edged Houston 1-0. Baltimore outlasted California 11-9, reducing its magic number in the American League pennant race to four.
The Pirates' Bob Veale had a one-hitter through eight innings, but Willie Mays' run-scoring single in the ninth tied the game 1-1. Pittsburgh then won in the 11th on Roberto Clemente's leadoff home run and Bob Bailey's grand-slam homer later in the inning, both off Frank Lirio.

In gaining his 11th victory against 16 defeats and first complete game since Aug. 18, Drysdale was backed heavily by Lou Johnson. The Dodgers' brilliant clutch hitter drove in three runs with two homers and a single. His first homer, in the second inning, put Los Angeles ahead to stay.
Frank Robinson hit his 46th homer, a three-run blast, in the Baltimore fourth inning, then broke an 8-8 deadlock with a two-run double in the sixth. Paul Blair contributed five hits to the Orioles' attack and scored four runs while Jim Fregosi collected four hits for California.

Michigan State's Spartans are off and running the way they were last year, leading in the Associated Press college football poll, this time by a close margin over UCLA.
The Spartans polled 12 first-place votes and 338 points in the first weekly balloting of the regular season. UCLA was named the top team on 13 ballots, but collected a runner-up 328 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.
A total of 41 regional selectors participated in the balloting.
Michigan State led virtually throughout the entire 1965 campaign, but dipped to second after being upset by UCLA in the Rose Bowl.
Alabama, the national titleholder the past two years and picked to win the championship in The AP's latest pre-season poll, is third in this week's voting with 260 points, including 100 for 10 first-place votes.
Alabama opens its season Saturday night against Louisiana Tech. Michigan State and UCLA began impressively last Saturday, the Spartans defeating North Carolina State 28-10 and the Bruins trouncing Pittsburgh, 57-14.
Michigan State was second and UCLA fourth in the pre-season poll.
The top ten with won-lost records, through games of Saturday, Sept. 17 and total points:
1. Mich. State 1-0 338
2. UCLA 1-0 332
3. Alabama 0-0 260
4. Nebraska 1-0 202
5. Southern Calif. 1-0 193
6. Arkansas 1-0 140
7. Purdue 1-0 132
8. Notre Dame 0-0 120
9. Michigan 1-0 106
10. Baylor 1-0 94

Denver Gets Temporary Grid Coach

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Offensive line coach Ray Malavasi has moved temporarily into the spot vacated Sunday by head coach Mac Speedie of the Denver Broncos.
Speedie, who took the head coach job in the middle of the 1964 American Football League season, quit Sunday within a few hours of his team's second straight loss, 24-10, to the Boston Patriots.
Executive Vice President Jim Burris said Malavasi, 35, had been named interim head coach because of his knowledge of the Bronco system and of football in general.

Big Shakeup Hits Yankee Organization

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The housecleaning at Yankee Stadium has started right at the top with the resignation of Dan Topping as president and chairman of the board and before it's over, baseball's most successful franchise could have a completely new front-office team.
Michael Burke, a vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, was named to replace Topping as chief executive officer of the club. CBS also purchased Topping's 10 per cent share of the club and now holds sole ownership of the Yankees.
Topping's resignation left the status of his son, Dan Jr., in question. Topping Jr., was named general manager of the Yankees in May when Ralph Houk left the front office to become field manager. The question is now that Topping Sr. is gone, how long will Topping Jr. remain?
CBS is rumored to favor a more experienced baseball man for the task of rebuilding the Yankees. A club spokesman said Topping Jr. would be offered a contract to stay with the team but did not say in what capacity he would be retained.
The name most prominently mentioned to take over the Yankee GM job is Lee MacPhail, currently administrative assistant to baseball commissioner William D. Eckert.
MacPhail moved from the Yankee front office to Baltimore, where he built the Orioles into pennant contenders before joining the commissioner's staff.
Lee's father, Larry MacPhail, along with Topping and Del Webb, purchased the Yankees from the estate of the late Jacob Ruppert prior to the 1945 season. Two years later, Webb and Topping purchased MacPhail's share of the club.
In 1964 CBS brought 80 per cent of the club with Webb and Topping each retaining 10 per cent. Webb sold his share to CBS last year and Topping's resignation Monday leaves CBS as sole owner.
In Topping's 19 years as chief officer of the club, the Yankees won 15 American League pennants and 10 World Series. The club, however, has slumped badly in the last two seasons. New York finished sixth in 1965 and is now in last place.

Burke, a member of the Yankee board of directors since 1964, has been with CBS since 1956. He served as president of Columbia Broadcasting System Europe, S.A., with headquarters in London from 1957-62.
Topping announced his resignation to a meeting of the board and called it a personal decision.
"My family lives permanently in Florida, and I have many other outside activities," he said. "I think it is in the best interests of the Yankees as well as for myself to leave at this time."

Gloom Hangs Over SW Grid Camps

Southwest Conference
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gloom was just somewhat thicker than a London fog around most Southwest Conference football practice fields Monday, but at Southern Methodist everything was as bright as a midsummer sun.
Conference coaches had two days to review what happened—or didn't happen—last Saturday.
Coach Darrell Royal pointed to the Texas defense and said, "There was not enough aggressiveness there." The Longhorns lost 10-6 to Southern California in a nationally televised game at Austin.
"Not enough people were attacking on defense," he declared. "It was happening to people supposed to be our more seasoned football players. The amazing thing is we lost by only four points."
At Arkansas, which struggled to beat Oklahoma State 14-10, Coach Frank Broyles said, "We'll change everything this week." The Razorbacks meet pass-minded Tulsa Saturday.
In Waco, Coach John Bridgers of Baylor had a unique problem. The two coaches he sent to scout Colorado's 24-3 loss to Miami at Boulder, Colo., last Saturday were unable to fly out of Dallas and did not see the game.
This leaves Baylor without an on-the-scene scouting report on Colorado, Baylor's Saturday night opponent at Waco. Bridgers said he obtained a film of the game so the Bears nevertheless will have a good knowledge of the Buffaloes.
The Bears, ranked 10th in this week's Associated Press poll, also will be without starting left tackle Coye Conner. He was injured in the Sept. 10 victory over Wyracuse, the only team Baylor has played this season.
Mike Jurecek, 215 pounds, who started the last seven games in 1965 at right tackle, was moved over to replace Conner.
Coach Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist, after studying the movies of the Mustangs' 26-7 triumph over Illinois, said, "The film grades were just excellent for an opening game."
Defensive tackle Ronnye Medlen was cited as the top defensive player against Illinois. He turned in 19 tackles, one less than guard John LaGrone.
"It's real unusual for a lineman to beat out linebackers in tackles," Fry said.
Royal, announcing three starting lineup changes for Saturday's Southwest Conference opener at Texas Tech, said, "We'd be making some more changes if we had some more people."
Christ Gilbert, who ran for 103 yards against Southern Cal, and end Ed Small, who caught three passes for 42 yards, were elevated, as was Corby Robertson, who earned a starting defensive end spot.
At Texas Tech, Coach C. T. King said he expects three players who sat out a 23-7 victory over Kansas to be ready for Texas. They are Halfback Roy Freeman, defensive guard and co-captain Marc Bryant and tackle Alan Radabaugh.
A Tech official said only 10 scattered single reserve seat tickets are unsold. The Tech stadium seats 41,500. He said tickets for sitting and standing room on the north slope will be sold.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — There's no question where big Bert Yancey won the $50,000 Portland Open Golf Tournament Sunday—on the greens.
He eagled the first hole with a 60-foot putt, then took only 24 additional putts while shooting a 67 for a 72-hole total of 271, three strokes ahead of Billy Casper.
Yancey used 102 putts for the 72 holes, a record for this year's PGA tournament circuit—and an astonishing 10 strokes fewer than Gay Brewer's previous 1966 record of 112.
Yancey, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound belter from Philadelphia, was awarded $6,600 for first place. Casper, second at 274 with rounds, 67-71-67-69, won $3,900.
Pete Brown, who either led or was tied for the lead during the first three days, shot a 72 Sunday for third at 276, worth $3,100—by far his best payday on the circuit.
Bruce Crampton and Wright Garrett tied for fourth with 277s, worth $2,450.

Bill Bradley, whose confidence should have been dimmed somewhat with his showing in the 10-6 defeat of Texas by Southern California, gets another chance to live up to his Super Bill tag Saturday.
That's when the Longhorns meet Texas Tech at Lubbock in the opening Southwest Conference football game.
If the touted sophomore was worried though, he didn't show it when he said after the Southern California game:
"We didn't get beat. We just ran out of time."
Anyway, Bradley goes against Texas Tech with its John Scovell, a youngster who had a big day in guiding Texas Tech to a 23-7 victory over Kansas.
Scovell is a junior but just now getting to operate as the regular quarterback.
Otherwise the conference returns to the inter-sectional wars with a 4-3 lead as the result of what happened Saturday.
The league broke even, with Southern Methodist beating Illinois 26-7, Arkansas edging Oklahoma State 14-10 and Tech strapping Kansas.
On the debit side was the smashing 38-3 defeat of Texas A&M by Georgia Tech, Nebraska's 14-10 licking of Texas Christian and the Southern California triumph over Texas.
There was little to moan about in TCU's showing, however. The Frogs, playing the nation's No. 3 team, did quite all right to indicate they will be big factors in the conference race.
Texas' loss, for that matter, was not a major disaster.
Rice becomes the last conference school to swing into action as the Owls take on Louisiana State at Houston Saturday night. Baylor will host Colorado, Southern Methodist gets Navy at Dallas, Texas A&M meets Tulane at New Orleans, Texas Christian challenges Ohio State at Columbus and Tulsa visits Fayetteville to slam at Arkansas.
The league will be hard pressed to break even this week.

Patterson, Cooper in London Bout
LONDON (AP) — Floyd Patterson and Henry Cooper were to meet at London's Wembley Stadium tonight, both hoping victory will take them closer to another chance at Cassius Clay's world heavyweight title.
In the meantime, both would be pleased to take on Germany's Karl Mildenberger, European champion and Clay's most recent victim, who has a ringside ticket for tonight's bout.
Patterson, the former world champ, and Cooper, the British titleholder, almost met seven years ago when the American wore the world crown. But Cooper wanted too much money and the bout went to fellow-Briton Brian London.
Now Patterson, 32, and Cooper, 33, are nearing the end of the line. It may be the last fight for the loser.
Betting odds favor Patterson by a shade: 2-to-1 against a Cooper win; even money on a Patterson victory.

Electric Car Promoted by Ford Co.

By A. F. MAHAN
DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. will test a prototype electric-powered car in England next year and later introduce it in the United States.

Company confirmation of this came today in the wake of speculation last week that Ford had made a breakthrough toward a battery-powered car capable of meeting traffic requirements.

Ford is experimenting with a lightweight, sodium-sulfide battery and said it might prove more economical than a gasoline-powered engine.

A Ford spokesman declined to be drawn into speculation when a battery-powered car might become competitive or how far one battery charge would take it.

Other sources, however, speculated one charge might give the range of a tank full of gasoline and that the car might be competitive with today's gasoline-powered vehicles within five years.

"That's one of the things we hope for but we don't know yet," said one Ford source with reference to one battery charge being the equivalent of a tank of gasoline.

If this happened, battery stations might displace gas stations.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp., Ford's major competitors, are known to be experimenting with both batteries and fuel cells, among other possible new power plants.

There has been at least one unconfirmed report GM is well along in development of battery power and may have an announcement soon. GM declined comment.

Speculation regarding a Ford breakthrough developed after a speech last week by Ford President Arjay R. Miller at nearby Ann Arbor.

Discussing gasoline-powered automobiles and their relation to air pollution, Miller said in a speech at the University of Michigan:

"The ideal answer to this problem (of air pollution) would be development of a vehicle powered by a source that would not produce emissions. The most promising candidate at present appears to be a battery-powered electric car.

"We now have in the early stages of development a new battery power system that we expect could offer tremendous improvements in range, performance and cost.

"Eventually, we hope it will lead to a practical emission-free vehicle for local transportation needs."

Batteries utilizing lead plates and acid, such as those that start your automobile, have been tried in series as power sources for some vehicles, but because of the power-to-weight ratio they have been restricted mostly to propulsion of golf carts and small trucks.

Use of Phone 'Blue Box' Convicts 4

The heat is on those who conspire and use electronic "blue boxes" or similar equipment to defraud the telephone company.

James A. Handloser, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's security supervisor in Arkansas, said today that such offenders have cause to be uncomfortable. He pointed out that recent federal convictions in an Oklahoma City Federal court set the stage for apprehension and prosecution of those who conspire to use such devices to avoid paying on long distance telephone calls.

The "blue box" is one type of electronic device that has been used illegally to circumvent the telephone company's billing equipment on long distance calls. The device operates to place a call into the long distance telephone network without routing it through the telephone company billing equipment. Early models were crude and were generally built by students and experimenters. Today more sophisticated devices are being built by professionals.

Use of the "blue box" or similar devices violates the federal fraud by wire, radio or television statute, Handloser said. Under this statute, he said, each count of an indictment carries a maximum sentence of $10,000 fine or five years imprisonment or both.

Recently in Oklahoma City four men were found guilty of violating this federal statute. Two others facing similar charges there await trial.

According to Handloser, the guilty verdicts in Oklahoma City were the first of their kind. Two of the defendants, Thomas E. McCay and Glenn S. Danford, pleaded "no defense." McCay was found guilty by the judge on 40 counts and Danford on one count for conspiracy to violate the statute.

Sylvester E. Gautreaux Jr. and Herman D. Brandon were found guilty by the federal court jury of violating the fraud by wire statute. The jury found Gautreaux guilty on five counts and Brandon on nine counts.

The two defendants still to be tried are Harlan R. Wilson and James R. Yost.

Five of the six men had been indicted for conspiring and using the device and one for conspiracy to make long distance calls which by - passed Southwestern Bell's

Some 2,000 persons came to the girl's wake Monday night to express sympathy to Percy and his wife, Loraine. The red-eyed couple occasionally succumbed to tears as they greeted friends in the funeral home.

Chief Daley reported today that one possible lead in the murder is the sighting of a green station wagon by a cab driver as it came from the driveway of the Percy home half an hour after the slaying.

It might have been a police vehicle, he said, but the driver was said to be wearing a gray suit. He was described as being about 30 years old.

He added that Mrs. Percy gave him a sketchy description of the person she surprised in her 21-year-old daughter's bedroom. The Percy home is on the shore of Lake Michigan.

"Not fat, not thin," he said, weighing 160 to 165 pounds. Daley said Mrs. Percy estimated the intruder's height to be 5 feet, 8 inches.

"She now believes it was a man," Daley said. Earlier, she had been unable to say if the killer was a man or woman.

Coroner Andrew Toman of Cook County said there were 12 stab wounds in the face, neck, chest and abdomen, some of which would have been fatal within a few minutes.

An autopsy by Dr. James Henry, the coroner's pathologist, showed four blows on the left side of the head with a heavy angular object were the immediate cause of death.

Toman said there was no evidence of sexual molestation.

Private services for the young woman were scheduled this afternoon at the Kenilworth Union Church.

Civil Rights Checked to Elections

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The possible revival of the administration's civil rights bill, born and buried in controversy, seems to rest on any verdict the voters give in November on open housing.

The fatal symptoms of some members' reluctance to be counted on the housing section combined with doubts about its constitutionality to kill the House-passed measure on a 52-41 Senate vote Monday.

This was 10 short of the two-thirds majority of those voting required to invoke the Senate's cloture rule to limit debate on a motion by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to bring the measure up officially. After the cloture effort failed, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield shelved the bill.

The vote on a similar move last Wednesday was 54 to 42.

But Monday's result was by no means a reliable indication that the bill — with its provision outlawing racial discrimination in about 40 per cent of the nation's housing — could have commanded a majority vote for final passage.

Mansfield told his colleagues that a vote against cloture was a vote against the bill. None disputed that. But when Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., tried to turn this around, Mansfield balked.

Javits asked the Democratic leader if he didn't believe a vote for cloture could be interpreted as a vote for the bill.

"I do not," Mansfield replied vigorously.

This seemed to represent the privately acknowledged fact that some senators unwilling to support open housing climbed on the fence by voting for cloture to demonstrate their political attachment to civil rights in general.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who opposed the housing provision and led the fight against cloture, said there was no justification for limiting debate. He said there had been no real debate on a measure he described as "full of mischief."

In seven working days since Hart first made his motion to take up the bill Sept. 7, opponents had talked a total of 12 hours, 55 minutes before Monday's vote. This scarcely added up to more than an easy-breathing warmup as filibusters go.

There were some dire predictions about the impact of the bill's defeat on the turbulent civil rights front.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said the abandonment of the measure "plays right into the hands of the white extremists and the black extremists."

Mansfield talked of the "grim days for all of us" that lie ahead if racial peace and reason aren't restored.

He added that if the prospects for passage of some bill next year are to be improved "the question of riotings, marches, shootings and inflammatory statements which have characterized this simmering summer of 1966 in urban areas of the nation will have to be faced frankly and bluntly."

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Lotions or Powder Better Than Alcohol in Chafing

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My skin chafes very easily, especially the inner surface of my thighs. Will using rubbing alcohol in this area strengthen the skin?

A—The chafed area should be kept clean and dry. Calamine lotion, Lassar's paste or zinc stearate powder would be more effective than alcohol. Over-treatment or infection would tend to aggravate this condition, in which case it is best to have a doctor decide what treatment to use.

Q—I have periodic attacks of colitis. Would taking Maalox aggravate this condition?

A—No. This combination of magnesium and aluminum hydroxide neither increases nor decreases the rate of peristaltic movement in your intestines.

Q—What does the diet for colitis consist of? Is there any medicine for this condition?

A—For colitis a bland diet with no roughage (bran, vegetable and fruit) is essential. When all vegetable and fruit is eliminated from the diet it is necessary to take vitamin supplements. The medicines given for colitis include anti-loaming agents, enzymes, mineral replacements, modifiers of the type of bacteria in the bowel, relaxants that work on the intestinal muscles, sedatives and tranquilizers. Many drugs are available in each of these categories. Let your doctor decide which you need, if any.

Q—What causes the abdominal cramps of colitis? Can certain foods do it? I have been taking Librium and Tofranil for nervous tension. What is the purpose of the Tofranil?

A—Irritation of the lining of the colon causes muscular spasms that are painful. In persons with colitis, the cold is so irritable that spices and roughage of all kinds will start the cramps. Emotional upsets and chilling the abdomen will also do this.

Imipramine (Tofranil) boosts the spirits of persons who are subject to fits of depression.

Q—I have had a pernicious anemia for 20 years and have been taking medicine before meals all that time. Recently I went to a new doctor and he told me to quit taking it. He is giving me injections of vitamin B-12. What is your opinion?

A—Vitamin B-12 is now recognized as the most effective treatment for this disease. Although some doctors prefer to inject it into the hip muscles, tablets that can be taken by mouth are also available.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

LIVING COSTS reportedly went up 16 per cent in Saigon last week as the Viet Cong brought pressure to bear on farmers prior to the Vietnamese elections, and if you didn't mind paying the price you could find just about anything you wanted on the black market. Here a Vietnamese girl offers "not to be sold or exchanged" items such as frankfurters and salad oil along with a variety of American-made soaps and liquors.

INFLATABLE ANTENNA is a new battlefield aid for U.S. forces in Viet Nam. Upper left, the collapsed antenna is easily carried in a backpack to jungle locations. Lower left, the antenna mast can be positioned and rapidly inflated to a height of 60 feet. The unit, developed by Goodyear Aerospace Corp. at Akron, Ohio, lengthens range of radio communications for units operating in the field without heavy equipment.

FUTURE FARMERS may feel something like jet pilots at the wheels of their tractors as farm equipment takes on increasing sophistication. The interior of a demonstration model futuristic tractor unveiled by Allis-Chalmers at Milwaukee, Wis., includes: 1) two-way citizens' band radio; 2) stereo tape player; 3) AM-FM radio; 4) cab air-pressurizing blower; 5) closed-circuit television camera; 6) television receiver; 7) electronic seed planting indicator; 8) air-conditioner and 9) tractor operating controls. Cab also is upholstered and carpeted.

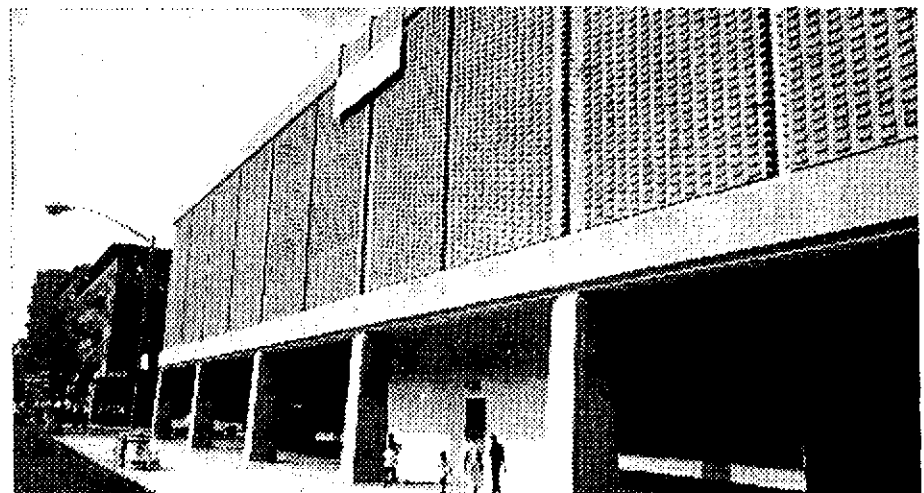

MEANS OF TRANSPORTATION range from primitive to modern in the mountainous Tofalaria region of the Soviet Union. In this official Soviet photo, a helicopter visiting a collective dropped down for a landing near a local woman riding a reindeer, still one of the most useful means of transportation in the rugged countryside.

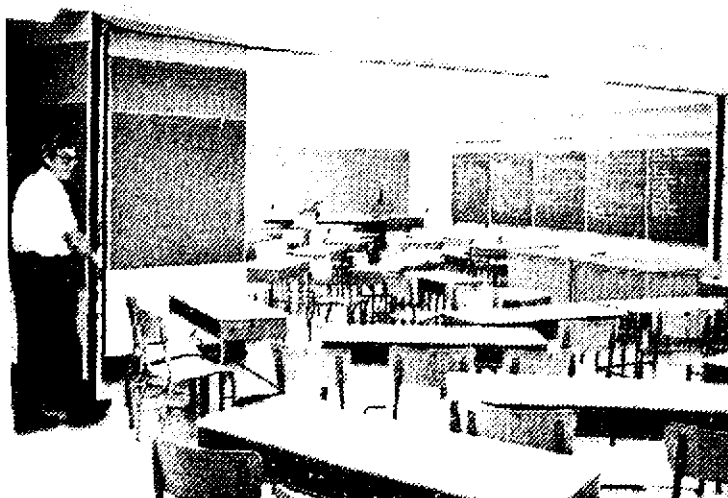

ACCORDING TO OFFICIAL Communist sources, this picture shows Chairman Mao (left) sporting a big smile and a hearty handshake as he met members of the youthful Red Guard in Peking. Mao is said to have asked Red Guard members to spread the "cultural revolution" throughout rural areas but not to disrupt farm production.

Controversial School

Striking a gleaming modern note amidst Harlem's tenements, Public School 201 is both New York City's "showcase" school and center of racial controversy. Air-conditioned and without exterior windows, it shuts out the noise and grime of one of the city's dingiest neighborhoods. Built as a $5 million symbol of quality education pointing the way to better schools in other depressed neighborhoods, it nevertheless remained closed as the city's other schools opened for the new school year. Neighborhood parents have demanded that white children be brought in to integrate the student body or that the school be turned over to the community to run.

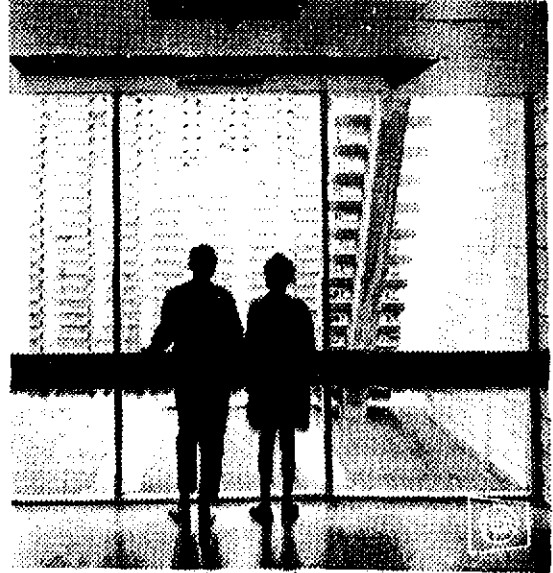

Constructed on concrete stilts, the school has an outside wall of brick screening, concealing and protecting interior glass walls.

Windowless classrooms are arranged informally with desks for two teachers for team teaching. Classes are small and instruction includes foreign languages and typing beginning in the fifth grade.

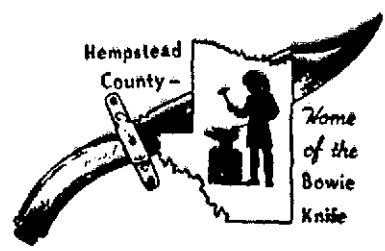

A model apartment gives students from impoverished homes a picture of attractive decor and modern sanitary facilities.

Glass walls at the ends of corridors admit light but are shielded from the street by the pierced brick screening.

Putting First Things First on Civil Rights

It appears to this Northern-born editor that in yesterday's action killing the new Civil Rights bill with its open-housing clause the United States Senate was only putting first things first.

President Johnson was pushing the bill for political reasons — hoping its passage would secure for his administration the votes of racial-minded minorities. Negro extremists recognized this fact, and were angered and depressed when the bill died.

It is fair comment to say that what killed the bill was its open housing clause. The congressional debate over this clause alarmed all property owners regardless of race or political affiliation. It was a proposal to authorize the government to intervene in any sale or rent of private property and dictate the terms.

It was a deadly threat against the principle of private ownership of property and would have destroyed the greatest single bulwark of Anglo Saxon freedom — the axiom that a man's home is his castle.

Opposition to this tyrannical Civil Rights bill came from all sections of America, particularly from the Northern states, traditional supporters of Negro causes. The Senate took due note of the popular outcry, killed the bill — and checked the issue up to the voters in this fall's elections.

The Senate, as I wrote above, only put first things first. There are personal rights that minorities have dedicated themselves to fight for. But also, there are property rights which once lost by all the people would make any minority's victory for personal rights meaningless.

Abraham Lincoln once said that you should respect another man's house for the safety of your own — whether you now have one or merely hope to in the future.

Red River Tech School Opens 26th

Class hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, according to J. W. Rowe, director, Oct. 7 will be the last date of enrollment for this quarter for day school.

Practical nursing, office practice and forestry courses will be held at Guernsey High School. A Red River Vocational-Technical School bus will leave City Hall, Hope, at 8:30 each morning and return in the afternoon shortly after 4 p.m. The charge for bus transportation is $1. per week. Students may eat in the Guernsey School Cafeteria for 50 cents or may bring lunches. Soft drinks will be available.

Diesel, heavy equipment, machine shop and welding courses will begin in the new buildings on Highway 29. Students of those courses may either bring lunches or go into town for lunch. One hour will be provided for lunch. An opening assembly will be held in each school. Instructors in the various courses will be at their respective schools to instruct students to their proper places.

Persons who have applied for admission to any course and have not had a letter from the office, stating they were not accepted, are expected to be present. The name is on the temporary class rolls.

Enrollment fees are due now and should be paid by September 23, 1966 if possible. Checks for $15 should be made payable to Red River Vocational-Technical School and mailed or brought to the administrative office in the courthouse at Hope.

Plans are to run four buses within a 50-mile radius of Hope.

This Isn't Going to Win Hal Boyle Any Votes From Ladies

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little mysteries is what a modern wife does after fixing her husband's breakfast in the morning.

If you ask her, she will flutter her pretty eyelashes and reply, "Start cleaning the house, of course."

The other day while waiting to catch a bus to go to work I fell into idle conversation with a young diaper deliveryman.

"This job has wrecked me for marriage," he volunteered. "I'll never get married."

"That so? Why?"
"Because I've learned too much about women — I mean too much about what they really are."

"What are they really?" I asked.
"They're hypocrites. Believe me, I know. I see them when they are off guard, and 99 out of 100 are hypocrites."

"How's that?"
"Well, you see that apartment house over there?" he said, pointing at a nearby building.

"There are 120 families living in it. All the wives are sending their husbands off to earn them a living. But if the husbands came back half an hour later, what do you think they'd find their wives doing?"

"Why, probably cleaning up the house," I ventured.
"Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. You make me laugh."

"Well, what would they be doing?"
"Everything but cleaning up the house."

"Such as?"
"Well, most of them have probably jumped right back in bed for another snooze. They think they've done their main work for the day when they give their husband a bawling out and a piece of burnt toast and push him out the front door."

"Well, how about the ones that don't jump back in bed?"
"They're even worse," said the young man.

"What do they do?"
"They dye their hair, and figure out what they can take back and exchange at the department store, and call up their bookies to make bets

G.&F. Dam Is to Be Destroyed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission dealt the finishing blow to the controversial Lake Neare project Monday by authorizing destruction of a dam at Osceola.

Using state and federal funds, the commission constructed three dams on an old channel of the Mississippi River in 1964 and 1965 to form the lake.

Floods destroyed most of the work last year, and this spring Mississippi County residents tried to get the state to repair the damage and make the lake permanent. It is the only state recreational project in that section of the state.

Last month the commission decided that the Lake Neare project had not been feasible from the start and that it should be abandoned. It allowed 30 days for any private group to offer to take over the project.

Hugh Hackler, who as commission director was authorized to destroy the dam to lessen the danger of flooding land, said Monday he would notify Mississippi County backers of the lake once more before destroying it, probably in 10 days or so.

It has been estimated that about $90,000 would be needed for the repairs.

Space Shot Today to Try Soft Landing on Moon; Exacting Job

By JIM STROTHMAN
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Surveyor 2 spacecraft hurtled toward the moon today, aiming to soft-land in the middle of its target to photograph a crater-pocked plain where American astronauts may walk within three years.

"We appear to be on a lunar trajectory," the flight control center reported 30 minutes after launching, but cautioned that four to five hours of tracking would be required to determine the precise course and what corrections might be necessary.

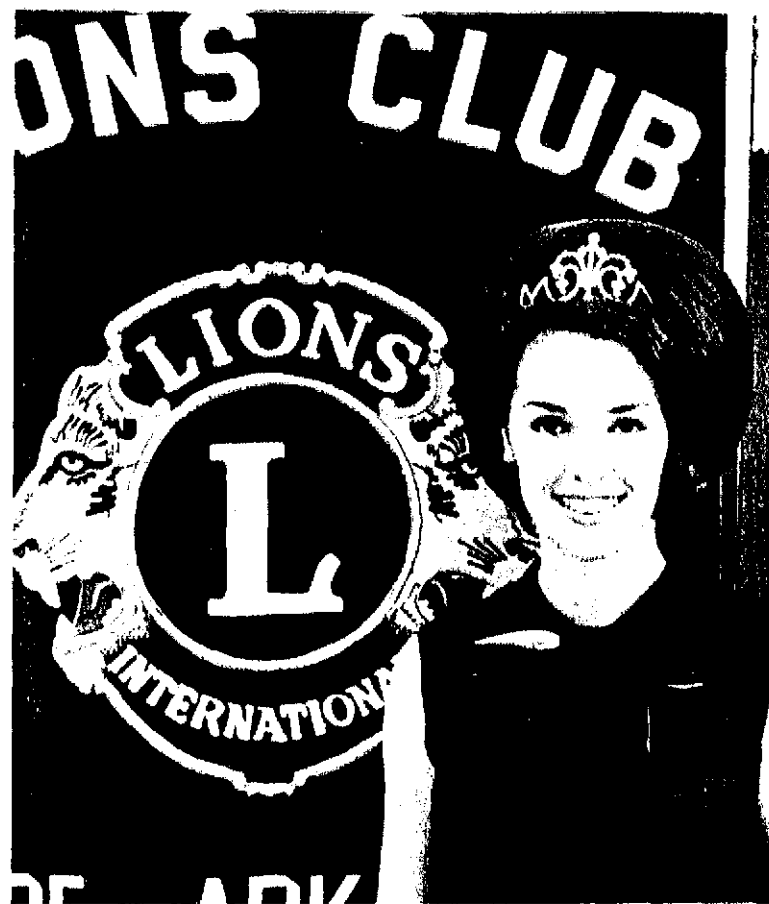

A powerful Atlas-Centaur rocket raced against the clock and thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 8:32 a.m. EDT to start Surveyor 2 on a 63-hour voyage which project officials predict will be "a cliff hanger all the way." The booster got off the ground with less than one second to spare.

If all goes well, Surveyor 2 will reach the moon about 11:28 p.m. Thursday, and will settle gently onto the Sinus Medii-Central Bay — a flat but potentially rugged plain located in the center of the moon's visible face.

Once there, its revolving camera eye is to scout around the area to see if it is a good landing spot for American astronauts.

12 Look Into Murder of Percy Girl

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — A dozen investigators from the state attorney's office were assigned today to assist the 14-man Kenilworth police force and sheriff's police in finding the killer of Valerie Percy, 21, daughter of Republican leader Charles H. Percy.

Also assigned to the case were two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and detectives of the Chicago homicide and burglary divisions. The state attorney's men established a command post at the Kenilworth police station and were assigned 32 leads to investigate. The FBI was expected to follow up leads involving out-of-state suspects.

Valerie was stabbed and beaten to death Sunday in the Percy home in Kenilworth on Chicago's Lake Michigan north shore. Chief Robert M. Daley of the Kenilworth police said, "We don't have a lead to go on," but he added: "I think this crime is going to be solved—and we are going to do it by leg work and perseverance."

Daley said that 44 persons have been questioned since the girl's body was found at 5 a.m. Sunday. He also said that Percy, at the request of police, has prepared a list of 100 persons he believes should be questioned.

Those questioned included, Daley said, persons who have known the Percy family, em-

Neutralized Zone Is Hit by Bombers

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force pounded the demilitarized zone with day and night raids Monday, while a few miles to the south U.S. Marines reported killing 53 North Vietnamese troops in an assault on a fortified village.

The Leathernecks also reported killing 10 more North Vietnamese while defending forward positions near the Marine mountain bastion called "The Rockpile."

Air Force fighter-bombers hammered at North Vietnamese troops in the six-mile-wide buffer zone with 11 raids. Giant B52 bombers followed these blows with a heavy night bombing.

Over North Viet Nam, Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilots claimed they knocked out a whole train 55 miles northeast of Hanoi on one of the main lines leading to Communist China.

The Air Force did not give the number of boxcars in the train, but Maj. Neil Eddins, 34, of Las Vegas, Nev., described the destruction as "total, with all cars exploding, on fire and derailed." Eddins, who led the raid, said the area was "a complete holocaust."

Other Thunderchief pilots reported hitting a surface-to-air missile site 40 miles northeast of Hanoi, while carrier-based Navy fliers claimed direct hits on two missile sites 30 miles from Thanh Hoa.

The raids Monday over the North, totaling 116 missions, cost one U.S. plane. An Air Force Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing.

U.S. fliers also reported damage or destruction to 11 bridges, 35 barges, 16 military supply buildings and several oil storage depots in North Viet Nam.

American planes showered more than 2.5 million propaganda leaflets on North Viet Nam's southern Panhandle Monday, a spokesman said. One drop called on Red soldiers to desert to the allied side; another warned civilians that prices would rise as the war continued and wipe out their savings.

Among the raids on the demilitarized zone, which separates North and South Viet Nam, Air Force bombers hit along the western edge close to the border of Laos. A U.S. spokesman said they dropped fiery napalm on North Vietnamese troop positions and storage areas and touched off secondary explosions and fires.

The B52 raid—the ninth since July 30 on the once neutral zone—struck at troop concentrations and base camps.

A few miles below the zone, Marines of the 26th Regiment assaulted the village of An Dinh in the face of heavy automatic fire from a company of green-clad North Vietnamese troops.

The Marines, participating in Operation Prairie, called in air strikes and artillery to dislodge the Communists from trenches and tunnels. After day-long air strikes, the Marines swept into the village area and reported 53 enemy dead.

The Marines said their own casualties were light.

Train Robber Chief Taken in London

LONDON (AP)—Ronald "Buster" Edwards, hunted for more than three years for the great train robbery, was arrested in London today and taken to Scotland Yard, police reported.

Details of the arrest were not immediately known. Edwards vanished in August 1963 soon after a gang robbed the Glasgow-London mail train in more than 2.6 million pounds ($7.28 million) in cash.

Another suspect still at large is Bruce Reynolds. Two convicted train robbers, Charles Wilson and Ronald Biggs, were snatched by armed gangs from the jails in which they were serving 30-year terms and are also missing.

Cooper to Triple Plant, Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. plans a $22 million expansion which would almost triple its work force if voters approve an industrial bond issue in a special election Oct. 25.

Cooper asked for the special election Monday night, and the Texarkana Board of Directors let the election date.

K. L. Frost, Cooper board chairman, said that if voters approve the bonds, construction may begin as early as February. He said it was projected that the full potential of the expansion would be reached by 1970.

The project would also almost triple production of tires and the size of the Cooper plant.

The firm officially opened its plant here two years ago and now produces about 6,000 tires a day and has about 400 employees.

Rozzell Hits Rural School Managers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forrest Rozzell repeated Monday his charge that the Arkansas Rural Education Association is mainly interested in preserving the power of certain superintendents and school boards.

Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, said in an editorial in the Journal of Arkansas Education that AREA wants to preserve this power "regardless of what happens to children and teachers of these districts."

Rozzell also charged in the AEA's official publication that AREA's campaign against a school consolidation amendment apparently included "The illegal use of school district funds to finance a political movement."

AREA was formed to fight school consolidation, and has been highly critical of the AEA. The consolidation proposal is on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.
